REVITALIZING WEST BALTIMORE

For years, Mondawmin was considered part of Park Heights until the Mondawmin Mall opened in 1956, forging Mondawmin neighborhood's own identity and promising a new beginning for the area. The mall complex has been at the center of the neighborhood ever since, and The Village at Mondawmin aims to bring the area a renewed hub of activity.

The Village at Mondawmin is a mission-driven redevelopment of the former Target store adjacent to the Mondawmin Mall. Tim Regan, president and CEO of The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company, and his wife Joanne bought the property in hopes of creating a community-enhancing project. Under Tim's leadership, the property was transformed and now The Village at Mondawmin includes six community service uses – Edenbridge PACE, CareFirst, A "Health Village" by University of Maryland Faculty Physicians, an expanded and relocated TouchPoint Baltimore, a childcare facility and a conference/office for Whiting-Turner. It features 14,000 square feet of retail space on both sides of its two main entries. The retail space provides an excellent opportunity for a café, quick-serve restaurants, and amenity retail to service the project's tenants and visitors, as well as the adjacent neighborhoods and institutions, including Coppin State University, Baltimore City Community College, and Frederick Douglass High School.

The Value of the Mondawmin Neighborhood

Positioned in the heart of northwest Baltimore, Mondawmin has been and continues to be a hub of activity, with millions approved for upgrades of various improvement projects.

With its nearby educational and recreational institutions, The Village at Mondawmin is well-positioned to serve the neighboring community, commuters and visitors.

Just across Druid Hill Avenue sits the Maryland Zoo and Rawlings Conservatory, two of the most popular generators of traffic to the area

The neighborhood is home to a handful of major educational institutions, including Coppin State University, Frederick Douglass High School & Baltimore City Community College, with a combined enrollment of roughly 8,000 students

Less than 3 miles north sits Pimlico Race Course, most famous for hosting the annual Preakness Stakes, among other large events and festivals

MARYLAND ZOO

America's third oldest zoo sits right in the heart of the city's popular Druid Hill Park, welcoming roughly 500,000 visitors annually and home to over 1,500 different animals

Also tucked within Druid Hill Park is Rawlings Conservatory, a historic garden locale that attracts around 30,000 visitors each year to see the array of plantscapes and garden life

In the famous northwest neighborhood of Pimlico sits the famous race course, most notable for hosting the Preakness Stakes, an event that itself attracts upwards of 80,000 spectators and visitors
